36.（30分）This was my grandmother's first Christmas without grandfather, and before he passed away we had promised grandfather that we would make this her best Christmas ever. When my parents and I （36）at her house, we found she had waited up all night for us. The house did seem a little（37）_____ without grandfather.

Grandfather had always said that the Christmas （38）_____ was the most important decoration of all. So we immediately set to work on the beautiful artificial tree that was stored in grandfather's closet （壁橱）. Through our efforts, we finally stepped back to （39）_____ our handiwork. It looked beautiful.（40）something was missing.

"Where's your star? "I asked.

The star was my grandmother's favorite part of the tree.

"Why, it （41）_____ be here somewhere, "she said, starting to sort through the boxes again. "Your grandfather always （42）_____ everything so carefully when he took the tree down. "

As we emptied the boxes and （43）_____ no star, my grandmother's eyes filled with tears. Grandfather had given it to grandmother some fifty years ago on their first Christmas together. It brought them great happiness. Now, on her first Christmas without him, the star was （44）_____, too.

"Don't worry, Grandmother, "I （45）_____ her. "We'll find it for you. "

My mother and I formed a search （46）_____. "Let's start in on the closet where the ornaments （装饰品） were, "Mother said. "Maybe the star just fell out of the box. "

That sounded （47）_____, so I began to search the closet. I thought I tried every （48）_____, but no star. I could see grandmother was （49）_____, although she tried not to show it.

"What's in this wrapped box？"Mother suddenly called out. "It was at the bottom of father's closet. "Grandmother took the box in （50）_____ and opened it. Her face （51）_____ when she unfolded the paper and pulled out a golden star. There was a（n） （52）_____ attached.

Don't be angry with me, dear. I broke your star while packing the decorations, and I couldn't （53）to tell you. Thought it was time for a new one. I hope it brings you as much（54）_____ as the first one. Merry Christmas!

Love,

Bryant

59.(8分) Car Talk

When I got the driving license last summer, Mom and I took our first trip around an empty parking lot. Then I found that my mother was not the best teacher for me. It wasn't that she shouted, or told me that I was doing poorly.As you can imagine,my mother's"helpful instructions"only managed to make me more nervous. Since I could no longer practice with her, the job was placed in the hands of my father. The idea of learning from Dad was not one that thrilled me. I loved him dearly, but I just did not see Dad as someone I could be comfortable learning from. He almost never talked. We shared a typical father-daughter relationship. He'd ask how school was, and I'd say it was fine. Unfortunately, that was the most of our conversations. Spending hours alone with someone who might as well have been a stranger really scared me.

As we got into the car that first time, I was not surprised at what happened. Dad and I drove around, saying almost nothing, aside from a few instructions on how to turn. As my lessons went on, however, things began to change.Dad would turn the radio up so I could fully appreciate his favorite Stones music.And he actually began talking. I was soon hearing about past failed dates, "basic body"gym class, and other tales from his past, including some of his first meeting with Mom.

Dad's sudden chattiness was shocking until I thought about why he was telling me so much in the car. In all the years that I had wondered why my father never spoke that much, I had never stopped to consider that it was because I had never bothered to listen. Homework, friends, and even TV had all called me away from him, and, consequently, I never thought my quiet father had anything to say.

Since I began driving with him, my driving skill has greatly increased. More important, though, is that my knowledge of who my father is has also increased. Just living with him wasn't enough - it took driving with him for me to get to know someone who was a mystery.

59. The author couldn't practice driving with her mother because_____.

A. she couldn't talk with her mother

B. her father wanted to teach her

C. her mother made her nervous

D. she didn't trust her mother

60. At first, the idea of learning driving from her father made her_____.

A. happy　　B. uneasy

C. satisfied　　D. disappointed

61. What surprised the author when the driving lessons went on? _____

A. Her Dad liked modern music.

B. Her Dad was the best teacher.

C. Her Dad was a chatty person.

D. Her Dad told her his sad stories.

62. With her story"Car Talk", the author indicates that_____.

A. fathers love their daughters dearly

B. mothers are less patient than fathers

C. family members need real communication

D. it takes time to improve the father-daughter relationship.

63.（8分）Now Hear This

What do former American president Bill Clinton and rock musician Pete Townshend have in common.'? Both men have hearing damage from exposure to loud music, and both now wear hearing aids as a consequence. As a teenager, Clinton played saxophone in a band. Townshend, who has the more severe hearing loss, was a guitarist for a band called the Who. He is one of the first rock musicians to call the public's attention to the problem of hearing loss from exposure to loud music.

Temporary hearing loss can happen after only 15minutes of listening to loud music. One early warning sign is when your ears begin to feel warm while you listen to music at a rock concert or through headphones. One later is that an unusual sound or a ringing is sometimes produced in your head after the concert.

"What happens is that the hair cells in the inner ear are damaged, but they're not dead, "says physician and ear specialist Dr. Sam Levine. According to Dr. Levine, if you avoid further exposure to loud noise, it's possible to recondition the cells somewhat. However, he adds, "Eventually, over a long period of time, hair cells are permanently damaged. "And this is no small problem.

What sound level is dangerous? According to Dr. Levine, regular exposure to noise above 85decibels （分贝）is considered dangerous.The chart below offers a comparison of decibel levels to certain sounds.Here's another measurement you can use. If you're at a rock concert and the music is so loud that you have to shout to make yourself heard, you're at risk for hearing loss. That's when wearing protective devices such as earplugs becomes critical.

The facts are pretty frightening. But are rock bands turning down the volume. '? Most aren't. "Rock music is supposed to be loud, "says drummer Andrew Sather. "I wouldn't have it any other way. And neither would the real fans of rock. "

Continued exposure to loud music and the failure to wear earplugs can lead to deafness, according to Dr. Levine. He states, "There's no cure for hearing loss. Your ears are trying to tell you something. That ringing is the scream of your hair cells dying. Each time that happens, more and more damage is done. "

Levels of Common Noises
Normal conversation	50 - 65dB
Food blender	88dB
Jet plane flying above a person standing outside	103dB
Rock band during a concert	110 - 140dB

63. From Paragraph 1, we can learn that_____.

A. loud music is a major cause of hearing loss

B. famous people tend to have hearing problems

C. teenagers should stay away from school bands

D. the problem of hearing damage is widely known

64. In Paragraph 3, the underlined word"recondition"means_____.

A. not to be seen　　B. to fill with sound

C. to become larger in size　　D. to make good again

65. The purpose of the chart at the end of the article is to show_____.

A. a list of harmful sounds

B. the effect of rock concerts

C. the noise levels of familiar sounds

D. relationship between daily activities and hearing loss

66. Which of the following statements will Dr. Sam Levine probably agree? _____

A. When your ears feel warm, your hair cells are dead.

B. Drummer Andrew Sather gives good advice.

C. Many are taking the risk of losing hearing.

D. Doctors know how to cure hearing loss.

67.（8分）Whether we should allow marine （海洋的） parks to stay open has been widely debated in our community recently. A variety of different arguments have been put forward about it.

Smith, a sociologist, argued that dolphin parks provide the only opportunity for much of the public to see marine mammals. As this argument goes, most Australians live in cities and never get to see these animals. Marine parks allow the average Australian to appreciate our marine wildlife. However, in fact, there are many places where they can be seen in the wild. Moreover, these places do not charge an overpriced entry fee - they are free.

Dr. Alison Lane, the director of the Cairns Marine Science Institute, insists that we need marine parks for scientific research. She argues that much of our knowledge of marine mammals comes from studies which were undertaken at marine parks. The knowledge which is obtained at marine parks can be useful for planning for the preservation of marine mammal species. However, Jones, a zoologist, explains that park research is only useful for understanding captive animals and is not useful for learning about animals in the wild. Their diets are different, they have significantly lower life lengths and they are more likely to have a disease. In addition, marine mammals in dolphin parks are trained and this means that their patterns of social behaviour are changed.

The Marine Park Owners Association holds that marine parks attract a lot of foreign tourists. This position goes on to state that these tourists spend a lot of money, increasing our foreign exchange earnings and assisting our national balance of payments. However, foreign tourists would still come to Australia if the parks were closed down. Indeed, surveys of overseas tourists show that they come here for a variety of other reasons and not to visit places like Seaworld. Tourists come here to see our native wildlife in its natural environment and not to see it in cages and concrete pools. They can see animals in those conditions in their own countries.

In a word, perhaps an agreement cannot be reached now. However, a question does deserve our consideration: If we continue with our past crimes against these creatures, how will our future generations view us?

67. Who support (s) the idea of closing marine parks? _____

A. Most Australians.　　B. Alison Lane.

C. Smith.　　D. Jones.

68. What does the author intend to tell us in Paragraph 3? _____

A. The results from studies are valuable in animal preservation.

B. Scientific research at the marine parks has its limitations.

C. Captive animals have biology changes in marine parks.

D. Human behavior causes harmful effects on the animals.

69. Which is NOT the reason to keep marine parks? _____

A. For entertainment purpose.

B. For scientific research purpose.

C. For economic purpose.

D. For political purpose.

70. The author tries to persuade readers to accept his argument mainly by_____.

A. pointing out the problems with keeping the marine parks

B. using evidence he has collected at the marine parks

C. discussing the advantages of animals'natural homes

D. questioning the way the animals are studied.

三.第二节（共 1 小题；每小题 10 分，共 10 分）根据短文内容，从短文后的七个选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项．选项中有两项为多余选项．

71.（10 分）Stage Fright

Imagine that you are an actor performing in a play for the first time. You have learned all your lines and you know where to walk on stage. Waiting behind the closed curtain, you can hear the audience whispering and taking their seats.

Then your big moment arrives!The curtain goes up, and the crowd falls silent. All you can see is the spotlight shining down on you.（71）_____The inside of your mouth is dry, and your hands are wet. If you have experienced a moment like this, you know all too well what it means to have stage fright. It is one of the most common types of fear and tends to strike people when they find themselves at the center of attention.（72）_____People experience this fear when playing sports, giving a presentation, or even speaking in class. A person who suffers from stage fright may get sweaty hands, a dry mouth, a tight throat, or shaky knees. Stage fright is actually a form of panic, and these feelings are very real.

（73）_____The experience differs from person to person, but the same chemical process occurs in each of us. In reaction to anxiety, our bodies produce a chemical that prepares us to either fight or run away quickly. Scientists refer to this as our bodies'"fight or flight"reaction. As a result, we feel great energy that makes our hands sweat, our hearts race, and our knees shake.

（74）_____Practicing your performance and following some simple tips can help calm nerves and manage the feelings caused by anxiety. First, dress comfortably and appropriately. Second, before the performance, take deep breaths and stretch to help relax your body. Third, stay away from drinks that contain caffeine.（75）_____ Instead, try a banana!Some doctors believe that eating a banana can help calm your heart and the rest of your body. Finally, when you look into a crowd, try to focus on particular people instead of the whole group. These tips have helped many people learn to deal with their fears.

A. These might make your heart race even faster.

B. You don't have to be onstage to get stage fright.

C. Stage fright is part of the body's reaction to stress.

D. You try to speak your lines, but nothing seems to come out.

E. With practice, we can learn how to relax while playing sports.

F. The good news about stage fright is that here are ways to deal with it.

G. However, there is a time when stage fright prevents you from stepping onstage.

16.【解答】Mkere

17.【解答】College

18.【解答】HS89FU

19.【解答】toys

20.【解答】1500

二.第二部分：知识运用（共两节，45 分）第一节单项填空（共 15 小题；每小题 1 分，共 15 分）从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中，选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项.

21.【解答】答案 C. A 项"在…地方"；B 项"为了"；D 项"在…里面"；C 项"翻过，越过"；根据语境可知，由于学校被建在村子里，所以孩子们不用（像以前那样很艰辛地）翻山越岭去上学了，"over the mountain 翻山越岭"，因此 C 项符合语境，故选 C.

22.【解答】答案：B.

fog 为无生命的事务，应用被动语态，表示"被预计"，排除 A 和 C；句子表达的是（现在）预计从明天开始雾会散去，用一般现在时；be expected to do 意为预料，表示理论上的一种可能性；will be expected to 则表示明天将会预计；所以排除 D；故选 B.

23.【解答】答案 A. 句中 had wanted to have done 表示"本来想做…却没有做"，是一种虚拟语气，而我离开佛罗伦萨是过去的事实，因此 A 项符合语境，故选 A.

24.【解答】答案：A.

根据句意，当有困难的时候，很多年轻人去找朋友是"为了"征求建议. 这里用 to do 做目的状语，故选 A.

25.【解答】答案：C

分析句子结构得知，本句是一个宾语从句，主句是 You should consider carefully，用于动词 consider 后面的宾语从句是_____ the car you want to buy is worth the money. 其中"the car you want to buy"（你想要买的这辆车）是定语从句，它在宾语从句中作主语；因此，可推测句意为"你需要仔细考虑一下你想要买的这辆车是否值这个价."A 连词 that 在句中只起连接作用，不作任何成分，也无词汇意义. B which 哪一个； C whether 是否； D what 什么. 故选 C

26.【解答】答案 D.

本题考查的是含蓄虚拟语气，有时候假设的情况不以 if 引导的条件从句形式表现出来，而是通过一个介词短语，连词或其他形式表示. 常用的词或短语有：without，with，but for，or，otherwise 等. 根据题目可知 without which 是隐含的虚拟语气，相当于 if they hadn't been given clothes and food，后面主句是和过去相反的虚拟语气，主句用 would have done. 故选 D.

27.【解答】答案 A. 分析句子可知，下句中时间副词"then"指的是"tomorrow"，这里的动词 meet 用现在进行时表

将来，因此 A 项符合语境，故选 A.

28.【解答】答案：C.

A 项"为，为了；因为"；B 项"和"；D 项"或者；否则"；根据句意及两个分句之间的转折关系可知，虽然她不会说我们的语言，然而她好像能听懂我们说的话，因此用"yet 然而，但是".

29.【解答】答案：C 根据句意"在一个快节奏的世界里，如果我们停止了学习"可推知，"我们可能会被甩在后面"，所以空缺处应该是选择用来表示推测的情态动词. should 用来表示有较大可能实现的猜测，"可能"、"总该…吧"，由于本句表达的只是说话人的主观看法，故不用 should；may 可能，表示说话人的主观臆断，一般没有客观依据；dare 所表示的是一种不肯定的语气，"I dare say"常译为"很可能"、"大概"等，但是 dare 后多接带 to 的不定式，有时 to 也可省去（尤其是在否定句或疑问句）； need 需要，不表示推测. 故选 C

30.【解答】答案：A.

和 ever since…连用，用现在完成时表示动作从过去到现在一直在做，所以选 A.

31.【解答】答案：A

分析句子结构可知，由于此处用在了系动词 is 之后，故本句为表语从句；在表语从句中，连接副词 why 作原因状语；后面跟的表示结果"（为什么）…的原因"；how 作方式状语；because 作原因状语，后面跟的表示原因："那是因为…"；where 作地点状语；根据句意可知；此处表示：他一直都在刻苦训练的原因；故选 A

32.【解答】答案：B.

regret 表示"后悔"的时候，后面接动名词做宾语，表示遗憾的做某事时则跟不定式作宾语，本句表达后悔做了某事；故选 B.

33.【解答】答案：B

where 作地点状语，which 可以作主语或宾语，whose 作定语，when 则作时间状语. 句中先行词是 forest，定语从句中 covered 缺少主语，which 可作主语，故选 B.

34.【解答】答案 A. once 意思是"一旦，如果"时，引导条件状语从句；unless"除非"，在意义上相当于 if…not，因此在有些场合中 unless 与 if…not 可互换使用，引导条件状语从句；until"直到"，引导时间状语从句； before"在…之前"，引导时间状语从句. 分析可知前后两句话的关系是逻辑上的条件关系，可排除 C 和 D 两项；再根据句子所表达的意思可排除 B 项，故答案选 A. 此题 C 项干扰性比较强，有同学会把它看作是"not…until…"句型，但是翻译一下句子，会发现句子的意思不通顺，因此 C 不正确.

35.【解答】答案 C. 分析句子结构可知，这里使用了 with 复合结构，"with+宾语+宾语补足语"，宾语 nothing 与宾补中的动词 add 构成被动关系，因此用过去分词作宾补，因此 C 项符合语境，故选 C.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I would like to host a student from Saint George High School. My house is big enough to give him a room to live in. Also, I am good at English listening and speaking. I have studied a lot about British culture and customs. I can create a welcoming atmosphere for him. I would be very happy, if you give me this opportunity.

Thank you!

Yours,

Li Hua （65 words）

Possible version 2

Dear Sir or Madam,

I feel very excited to know that the exchange students from Saint Gorge High School will come and study at our school. I would like to be a host family. The reasons are as follows:

First, my home is big with three bedrooms and two bathrooms. This makes it possible for me to provide the exchange student with good living accommodations. Moreover, I have a good command of English and I am good at listening and speaking. I would be able to communicate with the student easily. In addition, I have a good understanding of British customs and culture, allowing us to have a lot to talk about.

Because of the above mentioned reasons I am applying to be a host family. I sincerely hope I will be granted this great opportunity.

Thank you very much!

Yours,

Li Hua （136 words）

四.第二节情景作文（20 分）

77.【解答】Possible version 1:

Last Friday, on the way home from school, I found a dirty puppy dog lying beside the dustbin. He was so weak that he couldn't open his eyes. I felt sorry for the puppy and carried him home immediately. After feeding him food and milk, I gave him a shower. I was so glad to see the dog recover. He was so lovely and I wanted to keep him. After discussing the situation with my parents, I decided to adopt him. Today the dog has become part of our family. We walk him in the park, play with him and take good care of him. He brings us happiness and keeps us company.

（111 words）

Possible version 2:

Last Friday, a chance encounter changed me and my family's life greatly.

After school, I was about to enter my apartment building when a little dirty dog, lying beside the dustbin, caught my eye. He looked extremely weak. Immediately the homeless dog filled me with sympathy. So I bent down and held him in my arms. I rushed him upstairs and right away fixed him some food. Then, I gave him a bath. After the bath he looked energetic and refreshed. What a lovely dog!

When my parents got home, I asked if I could keep the dog. To my surprise and happiness, they agreed. From that day, he has become a member of our family. Everyone has enjoyed his company. My parents walk him often. He and I play joyfully.

Looking at the cute, happy dog today. I realize that I did the fight thing. I brought him to a warm, loving home and he has brought us great happiness and laughter.（161 words）
