56.（6 分）Sharing Beauty

It was in October. I was aimlessly wandering down the street, heading into a most gloriously beautiful sunset. I had an urge to speak to someone on the street to share that beauty, but it seemed everyone was in a hurry.

I took the next-best action. Quickly I ducked into a department store and asked the lady behind the counter if she could come outside for just a minute. She looked at me as though I were from some other planet. She hesitated, and then seemingly against her better judgment, she moved toward the door.

When she got outside I said to her, "Just look at that sunset!Nobody out here was looking at it and I just had to share it with someone. "

For a few seconds we just looked. Then I said, "God is in his heaven and all is right with the world. "I thanked her for coming out to see it; she went back inside and I left. It felt good to share the beauty.

Four years later my situation changed greatly. I came to the end of a twenty-year marriage. I was alone and on my own for the first time in my life. I lived in a trailer park which, at the time, I considered a real come-down, and I had to do my wash in the community laundry room.

One day, while my clothes were going around, I picked up a magazine and read an article about a woman who had been in similar circumstances. She had come to the end of a marriage, moved to a strange community, and the only job she could find was one she disliked: clothing sales in a department store.

Then something that happened to her changed everything. She said a woman came into her department store and asked her to step outside to look at a sunset. The stranger had said, "God is in his heaven and all is right with the world," and she had realized the truth in that statement. From that moment on, she turned her life around.

56. The author asked the woman to go outside to_____.

A. admire the sunset

B. cheer her up

C. offer some help

D. have a chat

57. Four years later, the author_____.

A. found her dream job

B. put an end to her marriage

C. worked in a laundry room

D. lived in the same community

58. After reading the article in the magazine, the author was probably_____.

A. disappointed B. puzzled

C. inspired D. overjoyed.

59.（8分）There is a lot of talk these days about how kids should be interested in science. Here's an area of science for everyone, and these cool new books might inspire you to discover your inner scientist.

Scaly Spotted Feathered Frilled by Catherine Thimmesh, 58pages, ages 9－12

Seeing a picture or a model of a dinosaur, do you wonder how anybody knows what they look like? After all, nobody has seen a living dinosaur. This book explains how scientists and artists work together to re－create dinosaurs. As scientific discoveries have been made, the models have changed. Scientific tests may one day expose what a dinosaur's coloring was,but now artists have to use their imagination to determine how these huge creatures looked.

Beyond the Solar System by Mary Kay Carson, 128pages, ages 10－13

This book takes readers back to the beginnings of space exploration－thousands of years ago, when people began star observation－and forward to today's search for planets in distant parts of the Milky Way. Along with history lessons, readers get 21activities, such as making a black hole and creating a model of Albert Einstein's universe using a T－shirt. The activities are perfect for cold winter days.

Ultimate Bugopedia by Darlyne Murawski and Nancy Honovich, 272pages, ages 7and older

If you're always on the lookout for butterflies, this book is for you. Hundreds of color photos of common and unusual insects fill this hardcover. There are fascinating stories related to the photos. For example, do you know an insect feeds on the tears of Asian cattle? There's a question-and-answer section with an insect scientist and advice on how to help preserve endangered insects.

Journey Into the Invisible by Christine Schlitt, 80pages, ages 9-12

If you use a magnifying（放大的）glass, you know a leaf looks quite different. This book explains what microscopes do and then shows what happens to things around the house when watched with this amazing scientific tool. The bacteria in your mouth, when magnified 20, 000times, look a bit like swimming pool noodles. Fascinating photos are paired with suggestions about how to learn about the world around you, just by looking a little closer.

59. Kids interested in pre-historical animals might read_____.

A. Ultimate Bugopedia

B. Beyond the Solar System

C. Journey Into the Invisible

D. Scaly Spotted Feathered Frilled

60. Beyond the Solar System is mainly about_____.

A. space exploration　　B. the Milky Way

C. history lessons　　D. Albert Einstein's universe

61. From the passage, we can learn that_____.

A. butterflies are fond of the tears of Asian cattle

B. scientists have discovered the dinosaur's coloring

C. microscopes can present you with an amazing world

D. man has explored the black hole for thousands of years

62. The main purpose of the passage is to_____.

A. compare features of different books

B. inspire people to become scientists

C. teach children some knowledge of science

D. recommend new science books to children.

63.（8分）Everywhere I look outside my home I see people busy on their high-tech devices, while driving, walking, shopping, even sitting in toilets. When connected electronically, they are away from physical reality.

People have been influenced to become technology addicted. One survey reported that"addicted"was the word most commonly used by people to describe their relationship to iPad and similar devices. One study found that people had a harder time resisting the allure of social media than they did for sleep, cigarettes and alcohol.

The main goal of technology companies is to get people to spend more money and time on their products, not to actually improve our quality of life. They have successfully created a cultural disease. Consumers willingly give up their freedom, money and time to catch up on the latest information, to keep pace with their peers or to appear modern.

I see people trapped in a pathological（病态的）relationship with time-sucking technology, where they serve technology more than technology serves them. I call this technology servitude. I am referring to a loss of personal freedom and independence because of uncontrolled consumption of many kinds of devices that eat up time and money.

What is a healthy use of technology devices? That is the vital question. Who is really in charge of my life? That is what people need to ask themselves if we are to have any chance of breaking up false beliefs about their use of technology. When we can live happily without using so much technology for a day or a week, then we can regain control and personal freedom, become the master of technology and discover what there is to enjoy in life free of technology. Mae West is famous for proclaiming the wisdom that"too much of a good thing is wonderful. "But it's time to discover that it does not work for technology. Richard Fernandez, an executive coach at Google acknowledged that"we can be swept away by our technologies. "To break the grand digital connection people must consider how life long ago could be fantastic without today's overused technology.

63. The underlined word"allure"in Paragraph 2probably means_____.

A. advantage　　B. attraction

C. adaption　　D. attempt

64. From the passage, technology companies aim to_____.

A. attract people to buy their products

B. provide the latest information

C. improve people's quality of life

D. deal with cultural diseases

65. It can be inferred from this passage that people_____.

A. consider too much technology wonderful

B. have realized the harm of high-tech devices

C. can regain freedom without high-tech devices

D. may enjoy life better without overused technology

66. What's the author's attitude towards the overusing of high-tech devices? _____

A. Neutral.　　B. Sceptical.

C. Disapproving.　　D. Sympathetic.

67.（8分）Did you see American figure skater, Jeremy Abbott, crash to the ice during the short program at the Sochi Olympics, rolling into the wall, clutching his side in pain. Ten seconds later, he got up and continued his skate-despite the pain, embarrassment and fear. All I could think was: this kid's got courage. In business we have a word for it-resilience, the ability to gain strengths and confidence from overcoming unpleasant events.

However, opposite examples appeared in Sochi Olympics as well. For them, failure is someone else's fault, because they do not accept personal responsibility. Therefore, they have to pay a high price for this attitude. After years of studying failure, I have learned one thing: modesty and open-mindedness in the face of mistakes is the single best thing you can do to improve results. Everyone fails, but not everyone recovers from failure. The key is to learn from it rather than get beaten by it.

The good news is that each of us has the potential to live a resilient life on and off the job. It may be difficult, but that just makes it all the more powerful and important. If you believe the above paragraph to be true, then you're probably more resilient than you think you are. It takes confidence to be resilient but that too much confidence is a killer is so true of leadership. For example, Ron Johnson, the ill-fated CEO of JC Penney, was so stubborn that he completely missed all sorts of signals from employees and customers and instead listened to all those who agreed with him, which failed his strategy. Bouncing back from failure requires that you recognize something has gone wrong, and you were the one who made it happen.

The challenge of resilience is not just about our work. When parents help their kids deal with every challenging situation, they are doing an unhelpful action to their children. Parents want to protect their kids from failure, but doing so takes away the opportunity from them to practice not just a life skill but an essential work skill. When self-esteem becomes more important than results, we are accidently training young people to become less adaptable, not more.

Resilience is not just about getting up off the floor, but also being ready for whatever comes next, even when you don't know what it is. Failures and setbacks are no longer unusual events, but regular features of a dynamic, competitive and highly demanding work environment. Getting up to finish your skate is no longer optional.

67. The example of Jeremy Abbott shows that one should_____.

A. recover from failure

B. stick to his own viewpoint

C. take others' opinions to heart

D. challenge difficulties bravely

68. According to the author, what can best build up resilience? _____

A. Being positive and powerful.

B. Being competitive and helpful.

C. Being modest and open-minded.

D. Being confident and responsible.

69. Which of the following examples shows us resilience? _____

A. A teacher offers students timely help and care.

B. A determined athlete practices skating hard every day.

C. A confident leader persuades his staff to follow his plan.

D. A student has got a low grade but continues to work hard.

70. Which might be the best title for the passage? _____

A. An Example of Resilience: Ron Johnson

B. Resilience: A Lesson from Sochi

C. Optional Challenges of Resilience

D. Resilience in Family Education.

三.第二节（共 1 小题；每小题 10 分，共 10 分）根据短文内容，从短文后的七个选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项．选项中有两项为多余选项．

71.（10 分）There is distinction between reading for information and reading for understanding.（71）The first sense is the one in which we read newspapers, magazines, or anything else.（72）_____Such materials may increase our store of information, but they cannot improve our understanding. And clearly we don't have any difficulty in gaining the new information, for our understanding was equal to them before we started. Otherwise, we would have felt the shock of puzzlement.

The second sense is the one in which we read something that at first we do not completely understand. Here the thing to be read is at the first sight better or higher than the reader. The writer is communicating something that can increase the reader's understanding.（73）_____ Otherwise one person could never learn from another. Here"learning"means understanding more, not remembering more information.

What are the conditions in this kind of reading? First, there is inequality in understanding.（74）Besides, his book must convey something he possesses and his potential readers lack. Second, the reader must be able to overcome this inequality in some degree. And he should always try to reach the same level of understanding with the writer. If the equality is approached, success of communication is achieved. （75）_____ It is the least demanding and requires the least amount of effort. Everyone who knows how to read can read for entertainment if he wants to. In fact, any book that can be read for understanding or information can probably be read for entertainment as well.

A. The writer should have a better communicating skill.

B. Such communication between unequals must be possible.

C. We can get access to the content of those materials easily.

D. The writer must be"superior"to the reader in understanding.

E. Thus, we can employ the word"reading"in two distinct senses.

F. Reading for entertainment is capable of increasing our understanding for information.

G. Besides gaining information and understanding, there's another goal of reading - entertainment.

一.第三节（共 1 小题；每小题 1.5 分，共 7.5 分）听下面一段对话，完成第 16 至 20 题，每小题仅填写一个词．听对话前，你将有 20 秒钟的时间阅读试题，听完后你将有 60 秒钟的作答时间．这段对话你将听两遍．

16.【解答】Schuller

17.【解答】International

18.【解答】Tuesday

19.【解答】135

20.【解答】noon

二.第二部分：知识运用（共两节，45 分）第一节单项填空（共 15 小题；每小题 1 分，共 15 分）从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中，选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项，并在答题卡上将该项涂黑.

21.【解答】答案：B whenever 无论什么时候，每当；用法相当于 when，只是表示语气比较强烈．本句是由 whenever 引导的时间状语从句，通常在时间状语从句中，用一般现在时代替将来时． 故选 B

22.【解答】答案 A．B 项"向，朝…；关于；在…之上；在…时候"；C 项"按照（表示方式）；从事于；在…之内"；D 项"为，为了；因为；给；对于"；A 项"到；向；（表示时间、方向）朝…方向"；固定短语"draw one's attention to sth 把注意力集中在…"，因此 A 项符合语境，故选 A.

23.【解答】答案：C.

根据句意，我们工作到深夜的"目的是"为了及时完成任务．这里用 to do 表示目的状语，故选 C.

24.【解答】答案：B.

根据时间状语 up to now 直到现在故用现在完成时，排除 C 和 D，not much（news）和 say 之间为逻辑上的动宾关系，即事情被说，所以排除 A；故选 B 项.

25.【解答】答案：D 根据后一句"for she was doing paperwork in the office then. 因为当时她正在办公室里做文案．"可以推测出：含空白处的句子表达的应该是她不可能去参加那次会议．所以本题考查的应该是情态动词表示推测的用法．当情态动词表示否定的推测时 couldn't 语气最强，指"不可能"，带有惊异、怀疑的感情色彩；shouldn't 不应该，想必不会； wouldn't 表示可能不是这样的，很不肯定，属于很随意的主观判断；must 可以用来表示推测，"一定是"，但是它的否定形式 mustn't 禁止，不能用于推测；故选 D

26.【解答】答案：B.

本句考查现在分词作宾补的用法，the water 与 run 之间为逻辑上的主谓关系，所以用现在分词作宾补；leave 后面用不定式作宾补时多表示将来发生的动作；leave 后面不跟动词原形或者 having done 作宾补，故选 B.

27.【解答】答案 D．根据句子语境分析可知，史密斯先生打不开门是过去的动作，他淘气的儿子从里面锁上门这个动作应发生在史密斯先生过去打不开门之前，即过去的过去，所以应该用过去完成时，因此 D 项符合语境，故选 D.

28.【解答】答案：A.

wish 后的宾语从句需用虚拟语气，再根据"I failed"里的 failed 可知，这里与过去事实相反，所以这里应该用过去完成时表示与过去相反的情况，故选 A.

29.【解答】答案：A

one 泛指"一个"；it"它"特指前面提到的事物；that"那个"，表示特指；another 指的是"另外一个"；根据句意"This kind of cell phone is very common 这种手机很常见"可知"I also have _____"表达的应该是我也有一部．表示不确指哪一部，而是泛指这种手机中的一部．故选 A 30.【解答】答案：C"偷"和"画"之间是被动关系且已发生，故用过去分词，选 C.

31.【解答】答案 C

before 在…之前；whether 是否；once 一旦；while 然而，根据前半句：你不能收回你的话，可知是一旦说出来，故选 C.

32.【解答】答案：选 B

which 是关系代词；关系副词 when 作时间状语；why 作原因状语；where 作地点状语. 本句的先行词为 a networking platform；定语从句：- - - communication is faster and easier，将先行词与该定语从句搭配在一起（需要加介词 at），才能表达完整的句意：At a networking platform，communication is faster and easier. 由本句可以看出，它缺少地点状语，故选 B.

33.【解答】答案 D.

根据上下文的语境及时间状语 last night 可知，说的是发生在过去的事情，从街道上传来的噪音让我醒了几小时这个动作是发生在昨晚的过去的动作，因此用过去时，D 项符合语境，故选 D.

34.【解答】答案：C

根据选项可知，空缺处需要填一个连接词；"_____ they will react"用于动词 imagine 之后，应该是一个宾语从句；可以推测出句子"I can hardly imagine _____ they will react"的意思为：我几乎不能想象他们将会有怎样的反应. A what 什么；B that 作为连词，只起连接作用，在从句中不作句子成分，也无词汇意义； C how 怎样，如何 D when 什么时候；故选 C

35.【解答】答案：A

分析句子结构可知，"_____ people can buy cigarettes easily"用在了系动词 is 之后，故本句为表语从句. 在表语从句中：whether 不作任何成分，意为：是否； 连接副词 where 作地点状语； how 作方式状语；由于该从句本身表达了完整的意思（人们很容易就能买到烟），也不缺少任何成分；故选 A.

四.第二节（20分）

77.【解答】One possible version:

Monday, March 10 Fine

This afternoon, we held a class meeting to say goodbye to Zhang Qiang, who was going to study abroad. In the beginning, he made a brief speech to express his true love for the class and his wish for an everlasting friendship with us. We were all moved to tears. Then came the moment to present him with the special gift, a heart - shaped board with some photos recording the unforgettable days we had spent together. Afterwards, we signed on his T - shirt expressing our best wishes and encouragement as a reminder. At last, we had a photo taken to memorize this precious moment. True friendship won't be weakened by distance. We'll surely miss him and wish him good luck in the future.
